Lookin' Around with 'Mac'

Once in a while you see a picture of complete peace: a tiny baby asleep in his crib, or an old man sitting in the sun, or a pastoral countryside in the spring.

Sunday atfernoon we saw peace in the Sierran foothills. What is there about a few cows and a few well-leafed oak trees properly placed on a green rolling hill that makes the heart sing? Add a well weathered barn and a rambling timber fence and it brings out the artist in us. Give it rich splashes of color in the harmony of nature and you ache to record it on color film.

We jeeped an 87 mile round trip with the top off and five kids packed in the back end.

Starting on Highway 49 we turned left at Wilson's Log Cabin (23 m.) and drove about four miles through pine forests on the ridge before we started the descent to the North Fork of the Yuba. Then down a set of switchbacks which were neither too steep nor too rough but would give some thrills to a plainsdweller.

Through the trees we could see Bullard's Bar dam long before we reached it. It's unbelievably spectacular. With heavy runoff at this season, the five center gates were open and a sheet of water 100 feet wide dropped about 200 feet (the estimated distance is mine) into a broiling turmoil. If it doesn't give you a nightmare of anxiety keeping the kids off the rail, the view of the reservoir and the falls are well worth a longer trip.

Then on through the pine forests again, where springs and streams abound and there are countless nooks and turns in the road that invite picnickers. At 49 miles from Nevada City we reached Dobbins. And from there on for miles we saw those pastoral scenes, complete with cows and fences.

At Dobbins the friendly waitress with the aching feet informed us we couldn't cross the Yuba at Colgate powerhouse or Rice crossing in order to reach French Corral. So we continued westward toward Marysville, reaching Brown's Valley at 58 miles. It was only a mile over to Highway 20 from there. Then through the bottle-neck to home, taking time out to photograph historic buildings at Timbuctoo.

While the mountain road was intended for one-way traffic, all of it has an oiled surface in reasonably good condition. It's a pleasant drive on a bright spring day; it makes you glad to be a Californian.

Today is Good Friday. It is also the 100th anniversary of the abortive attempt to found the Independent Republic of Rough and Ready and the 42nd anniversary of the birth of an obscure and disillusioned newspaperman.

The first stands out as the symbol of the best and finest thing that man has known. It contrasts with the other two events as sharply as the Central Figure contrasted with the two crucified robbers on the hill above Jerusalem.

Perhaps frustration is the best word to describe the minor events we have noted. C. E. Brundage's wild and soaring plan to form a free and independent republic in the roaring gold camp a few miles west of Nevada City a century ago was, of course, doomed to failure. That the idea should have been conceived at all or that it blossomed to vociferous action can only be a testimonial to the violence of the local whiskey. But probably no other event in the colorful story of gold rush days in California has been so carefully nourished and expanded. The name of the camp itself is enough to stimulate amused interest; to add the

WAGE AND JOB CLASSIFICATION SURVEY OKEYED

Job classification and wage survey affecting more than 150 Nevada county employes will be conducted by the California state personnel board. The county supervisors voted this week to approve the survey which will cost approximately $1,200 and will furnish information from which the board can correct salary inequalities.

Spokesman for the courthouse and county employes was William L. Tamblyn, chief deputy assessor, who claimed county salaries were far below those paid in private industry and in counties of similar size.

Tamblyn said employes entered a department at a certain salary and many years later they were still getting the same pay. Such a condition, he said was not conducive to greater efficiency.

Opposing the survey expected to result in a general wage increase throughout all departments were Warren Odell, board chairman, and J. C. Coughlan.

Favoring the contract and expressing themselves in favor of salary adjustments were Henry Loehr, Frank Rowe and Carl Tobiassen.

The board authorized George C. Sellon, Sacramento architect, to make preliminary studies and cost estimates for a proposed juvenile detention home. Supervisor Rowe said some Placer county officials had inquired into the possibility of the two counties joining in the construction of a detention home.

The board agreed to take preliminary steps to appraise Loma Rica airfield and investigate how much federal money for purchase of the airport was available.

W. B. Wisenand, airport designer of the California aeronautics commission, was appointed to represent the board in all matters concerning the airport and in applications for federal aid in purchasing the field.

The board adopted a resolution endorsing the position of American Mining Congress in opposition to extension of social security to mine-block lessors.

Maintenance and construction of county roads was placed under jurisdiction of the county road commissioner and taken out of the hands of the supervisors.

Following recommendation by District Attorney Vernon Stoll, the board ordered the French Corral school building be sold to the highest bidder at a public auction Friday, April 21, 1:30 p.m., at the school grounds.

The decision climaxed a heated argument between two groups of ridge residents seeking the building as a community center.

Walter A. Carlson, superintendent of schools told the board the 95-year-old building could not be used for a school house and suggested disposal by sale.

The board authorized appropriation of $1,500 for publication of 10,000 32-page booklets advertising Nevada county but later rescinded the purchase order issued to the Grass Valley Union when a question of legality arose.

Ken Adams appeared as a representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars which is seeking construction of a veterans building in Nevada City. J. F. O'Connor, county surveyor, was instructed to send a copy of the title description to the architect to complete request for state funds to meet half the cost of the lot.

MILK HEARINGS

The California agriculture department has called public hearings for consideration of changes in minimum prices for milk for April 11 in Mt. Shasta and Monday, April 17, in Nevada City. Hearings open at 10 a.m.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN REMAINS $400 SHORT

The 1950 Red Cross campaign for funds is still about $400 short according to John L. Larue, fund drive chairman. The goal was set at $2,895.

Last year Nevada City and the eastern part of Nevada county, was one of the earliest communities in the state to reach its quota.

Ways and means of raising the $400 were discussed at a meeting of the chairman and field workers Wednesday night at city hall.

Horace Curnow, Ben Hall and Ed A. Frantz were named to select a 1950 chairman for the Nevada City Red Cross chapter.

CONSERVATION COUNCIL SETS 9 POINT PROGRAM

Nevada County Conservation association made up of the conservation experts and educators of the county Wednesday night outlined a nine-point program for 1950.

Three major points of the program will be a cleanup of roadside dumping and the establishment of county dumping grounds, increased support and interest in the Grass Valley high school forestry project at the county fairgrounds, and a field day to study possibilities of farm timber and lumber cutting with a new type portable saw mill.

Cleanup day in which all men's service organizations in the western end of the county will take part, has been tentatively set for Saturday, May 13, under the direction of Harry Hyatt of the soil conservation service.

Roger Snipe, high school biology instructor and forestry teacher was named to head a committee to work out details for a demonstration of forestry and conservation practices on the high school farm forest lot and arboretum during the county fair in late August.

The farm timber falling and lumber cutting demonstration with a portable saw mill recently developed will be held late this summer on the Leon Sanford ranch. The tests are expected to prove the feasibility of cutting small timber stands profitably in amounts which would be impractical if the logs were cut and hauled long distances to the saw mills.

Taking leading parts in the program planning were Don R. Knowlton, state forest ranger; Keith Macdonald, Tahoe national forest staff; M. A. Benedict and Leland Smith, retired forest supervisors; William Wilson, Grass Valley high school principal; Joel Bierwagen, Nevada county fair director; Sanford, association chairman; Hyatt; Forest Varney, manager of the Nevada Irrigation District; Willard Weselsky, state forest staff; and Hobart Snider, Tahoe forest district supervisor.

"THE CRUCIFIXION" AT TRINITY TONIGHT

"The Crucifixion," a meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer, by John Stainer, with full chorus of mixed voices and solos will be presented tonight, Good Friday, at 7:30 at Trinity Episcopal church, according to Rev. Max L. Christensen, rector of the church.

Mrs. Marian Libbey will direct the work. Mrs. Luella Anderson will accompany on the organ.

In addition to music by the choir, solos will be presented by Chester Prisk, Grass Valley; Alvin Molen, and William Tobiassen, Nevada City.

The program, Rev. Christensen said, will be devided into seven parts, representing the seven last words of Chirst on the cross.

Musical numbers will include "And They Came to a Place Named Gethsemane," "There Is a Green Hill," "Fling Wide the Gates," "And They Came to a Place Called Calvary," "Beside the Still Waters," "Jesus Said 'Father Forgive Them,'" and "When Jesus Therefore Saw His Mother."

FOURTH OF JULY CENTENNIAL TO BE HISTORICAL

Historical was the theme selected Tuesday night by the Nevada County Fourth of July Centennial committee at city hall, for the celebration which was also officially set for four days —Saturday, July 1 through Tuesday, July 4.

A tentative program was set up but Chairman Ray Spickelmier warned that all events are not final and are subject to possible change.

After selecting Alvin Trivelpiece as centennial secretary, the 16 committee members settled to work arranging the schedule. In addition to those attending the Tuesday meeting all members of the boards of directors of the senior and junior chambers of commerce of Nevada City and Grass Valley are members of the committee.

Saturday afternoon was selected as homecoming day with a tentative program to include a picnic at Pioneer park, an old timers reunion, an afternoon of games for the children and registration of former residents.

Sunday morning was left open for religious services and visits to historical sites. Tentatively on the schedule for the day were concerts by the gold miners chorus and the carol choir; baseball game at Pioneer park and folk dancing by the Nuggetteers and Golddancers.

Tentative program on Monday includes a dynamite box derby on Broad street in the morning, a barbecue at Pioneer park Monday noon, followed by a baseball game and water pageant with modern dancing and a variety show in the evening.

The big day—Tuesday—will be the parade day, of course. Elza Kilroy was tentatively named as parade marshal. George Hansen was appointed chairman of the queen committee, I. C. Bell was placed in charge of the dynamite box derby.

The committee approved placing any profits into a fund for improvement of recreation facilities for youth.

BELL INVITES GOVERNOR WARREN TO MEETING IN CITY THIS MONTH

I. C. Bell, chairman of the new Feather and Yuba River Highways association, headed a committee of his organization to visit Governor Earl Warren Friday. Purpose of the call was to invite the governor to attend a dinner meeting to be held in Nevada City or Grass Valley between April 20 and May 1 to discuss the highway 20 program.

Although the governor was in Santa Barbara, the delegation had a conference with M. F. "Pop" Small, his executive secretary. Small assured the committee the governor would be glad to attend any meeting given in his honor.

Included in the group was W. B. Hengy, Butte county; Si Zyskowski, Plumas county; John Inbarron, Sutter county; I. H. Bradley, Sierra county; "Luff" Rush, Yuba county; Ed J. Kohler, H. F. Sofge, William Stinson and Bell of Nevada county.

The committee also attended sessions of the Sacramento valley council of the state chamber of commerce. The interests of the men took them into group discussions of highways, natural resources, travel and recreation.

DECISION APPEALED

Lydia C. Palmer has appealed a decision denying damages of $293.30 handed down Feb. 24 by Justice of the Peace George W. Gildersleeve. Plaintiff alleges L. F. Utter, Francis W. Huston and William H. Hanson, defendants, were involved in an automobile accident with her vehicle on highway 20 in November, 1947.

Charles Genasci received a charter member pin from Cle Elum, Wash., lodge of Eagles. Genasci was a member of the lodge when it was organized 47 years ago.

PRE-SCHOOL SHOTS SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Immunization shots for kindergarten children will be held at Nevada City elementary school Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

"It is important that all children who are to enter school next fall for the first time be given these inoculations," Lloyd Geist, principal of the school, said.

Members of the Nevada City Elementary Parent-Teachers Association will be in attendance to assist local doctors and to care for younger children.

Geist added the inoculations may be made by family physicians.

ELEVEN COUNTY OFFICERS FACE NO COMPETITION

Eleven candidates, 10 of them incumbent, will face no opposition in races for Nevada county posts at the primary election of June 6.

On the other hand 11 candidates are seeking the office of supervisor of the fourth district —one of the largest fields ever to seek a Nevada county office in a primary election.

Contestants for the seat being vacated by Warren Odell are Everett Chittenden, C. J. Hilliard, Edward J. Kohler, Henry McGonigal, William S. McKitrick, Charles L. Painter, James Phelan, Guy N. Robinson, Matt N. Sauer, Claude H. Schwartz and William Stinson.

Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins is opposed by Wayne Brown of Grass Valley, and Coroner Alvah Hooper will have competition in J. Paul Bergemann, Nevada City, in the major races of the courthouse.

William L. Tamblyn, chief deputy under County Assessor Phil G. Scadden, will run without opposition in his first try at the office. Tamblyn, who is only 35, could very well start a long regime in the office, because of his age.

Courthouse veterans can recall no previous case where a candidate making his first venture in politics in Nevada county had run without opposition.

Incumbents running without opposition are Ralph E. Deeble, county clerk and auditor; Vernon Stoll, district attorney; Miss Elma Hecker, treasurer and tax collector; John E. Nettell, recorder; J. F. O'Connor, surveyor; Walter A. Carlson, superintendent of schools; Theodore A. Kohler, public administrator; and J. C. Coughlan, supervisor of the third district.

George W. Gildersleeve, Nevada City justice of the peace; and Charles A. Morehouse, Grass Valley justice; are unopposed, but Meadow Lake justice will see Mrs. Ethel Buell and Fosten Filson vie for the office being vacated by Justice R. N. Little.

Constable Norvall F. Dolley is unopposed in Meadow Lake, but Constable Arthur Hammond of Grass Valley will have opposition from Leo McGrath.

Nevada City constable post has three candidates, Bert E. Johnson, Joseph Tredennick and W. O. Shipley. Constable Jack Curry is not seeking re-election.

NORTH SAN JUAN MAN FAILS IN SUICIDE TRY

T. J. Grote, 61, North San Juan, and attendant at DeWitt state hospital, is reported in good condition after what Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins described as an attempted suicide Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen Guglielmino, sister-in-law of Grote's, notified Grass Valley police who in turn notified the sheriff's office. Dr. Harold Karo, Grass Valley, accompanied Hoskins to North San Juan and rendered first aid. The sheriff reported Grote had attempted to slit his throat with a butcher knife but missed the jugular vein.

Miss Maxine Ivey and Miss Jenell Stinchfield, members of the 1950 graduating class of Nevada City, have been named as commencement speakers by the school faculty.

BOND ISSUES TO BE DECIDED BY VOTE TUESDAY

Electors of the City of Nevada will go to the polls Tuesday to decide three issues, two of them bonding issues totaling $155,000 for construction of a sewage disposal plant and modernization of fire equipment, and to select two of three candidates for city councilmen.

The five precincts of Nevada City have been consolidated into two and polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Precinct A includes regular precincts 1, 2 and 3, and polling place is located at the assay office of E. J. N. Ott. Precinct B includes regular precincts 4 and 5 and polling place will be at the city hall.

George H. Calanan, incumbent candidate for city clerk, and Mrs. Emma Foley, incumbent candidate for city treasurer, are unopposed.

There are two offices of city councilmen to be decided with three candidates in the field. Marvin E. Haddy, service station operator, opposes Incumbents A. B. Innis, hotel and tavern operator, and William E. Mullis, laundry operator.

Measure "A" provides for incurrence of a bonded indebtedness of $130,000 for acquisition, construction and completion of a sewage treatment plant, sludge collectors and sludge beds, intercepting, collecting and outfall sewers, pipes, manholes, connections, lands, easements, rights of way and other works.

Measure "B" provides for incurernce of a bonded indebtedness of $25,000 for acquisition, construction and completion of a $15,000 fire truck, and mechanical equipment, fire alarm signal system, new fire alarm boxes and hydrants and other equipment.

Calanan, in an appeal for approval of the sewage bond issue, reminded electors that the City of Nevada has been violating the state law against dumping raw sewage in streams for many years and the state has now begun a crackdown against communities guilty of the violation. He cited incarceration of city officials of Vernon who defied a court order obtained by the state health department.

Curbstone oversevers report little campaign interest and apparently less than a 50 percent vote will be cast.

CARDINAL STORE AND EMPLOYES ARE SUED ON FALSE ARREST

Elmer Lee Stallings, local lumberman, filed suit this week asking $20,200 for damages from the Cardinal Grocery Stores; Dolan V. Foster, manager; and Harold W. Aaron, assistant manager, alleging a false arrest.

Stallings charges Aaron at the behest of Foster, swore to a criminal complaint against the plaintiff charging theft of a bottle of whiskey from the Nevada City store of the chain grocery. Stallings was jailed overnight until released on bail. Stallings was acquitted in justice court on March 1 when four persons testified he had purchased the alcoholic beverage at the Nevada City Liquor Store, across the street.

Stallings asks $10,200 damages and an additional $10,000 punitive damages, and costs of suit.

Albert L. Johnson, local attorney, represents the plaintiff.

MRS. FREDA BECRAFT RESIGNS TB OFFICE

Mrs. Freda Becraft resigned as executive secretary of the Nevada County Tuberculosis association at a regular meeting last week in Grass Valley. Mrs. Marie Williford of Grass Valley was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Becraft will remain as a member of the board of directors of the association. She had served several years as the executive secretary.

Frank J. Rowe, chairman, was in charge of the business meeting.

THE NUGGET RECOMMENDS

The City of Nevada has enjoyed a low tax rate and no indebtedness for many years but at a price—the price of modern improvements that other California communities have acquired.

Tuesday, we the electors of the City of Nevada, go to the polls to approve or disapprove bonding ourselves for $155,000 for acquisition of some of those improvements.

Measure "A" calls for a bonded indebtedness in the principal amount of $130,000 for the acquisition, construction and completion of the following municipal improvements: sewage system, including treatment plant, sludge collectors and sludge beds, intercepting, collecting and outfall sewers, pipes, manholes, connections, land, easements, rights of way, and other works, property or structures necessary or convenient for the improvement of the sewage system of the City of Nevada.

The polio epidemic that struck Grass Valley last summer is sufficient warning to us that we need proper sanitation. The City of Nevada was lucky enough last year to have but one case of polio during the epidemic, but in a recurrence we may not be so fortunate.

Were the warning of last year and the recurrent need to boil water here during summer months insufficent reason for a sewage disposal system, the requirement by the state of California that the City of Nevada cease polluting the waters of Deer creek, warrants approval of Measure "A."

The City of Nevada is blessed with the finest climate in the state. Let's make our health record second to none. The Nugget recommends a YES vote for Measure "A."

Measure "B" providing a bonded indebtedness in the amount of $25,000 for improvement of the fire protection system, including the purchase of a $15,000 fire truck, has been the subject of much misinformation.

Reports have been spread that the fire truck itself will cost the full $25,000 of the bonded indebtedness. The truck calls for an outlay of $15,000.

The additional $10,000 will be used to modernize and supplement the alarm and hydrant systems.

The Nugget recommends a "YES" vote for Measure "B" to modernize the fire department.

Two of the city incumbents are unopposed but there are three candidates in the field for the two posts of councilmen.

None of the three: Incumbents Mayor Arthur B. Innis and William E. Mullis, or Aspirant Marvin E. Haddy has voiced a platform or a program. Mayor Innis has been embarrassed through his statements regarding the slot machine situation in the City of Nevada, but now it is to be presumed that the legislative action this week regarding the gambling devices, has eliminated the one-armed bandits as an issue.—kww.

ROCKING THE BOAT

This is the story of a little girl and a rich man.

It reaffirms our belief in justice and common sense. A tricky piece of legal juggling has been declared "shocking to the sense of justice." Now that a judge has used those words we feel better. We've been thinking the same and feeling the same sense of "shock to the sense of justice" ever since the meaning of Phil Davis' "limitation of liability" became clear to us.

Imogene Wittsche will never get her feet back, but it appears a travesty of justice can be gained with legalistic hair splitting.—kww.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust. — Samuel Johnson.

To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved. —George MacDonald.

We do not trust God, but tempt Him, when our expectations slacken our exertions.—M. Henry.

An undivided heart, which worships God alone, and trusts Him as it should, is raised above all anxiety for earthly wants.—Geikie.

A childlike trust of heart, that can take a hand, and wondering, walk in paths unknown and strange, is the prime requisite of all religion.—James Martineau.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder about mountains
And I wonder about men,
And why they do so seldom match,
I'm sure I dinna ken;

I Wonder about the majesty of mountains and why so often, when we seek for men to match them, we find mole hills. Still there are mountains and mountains and beside them are hills of greater or less altitude. Our Mount Shasta stands up great and strong and beautiful beyond compare but beside it crouches Black Butte, low and squat and notable only for the fact that it is in the proximity of Shasta.

So it is in the races of men. There are those who tower above the plains of life and to them we lift our eyes in admiration and often with the compliment of emulation; and there are the others of varying degrees, down to the men who lose their way entirely and become as it were Black Buttes to the Shastas who tower above them.

A man does not have to be a person of prominence, wealth or fame to match a mountain; he may be a man of humble origin and of mediocre attainments, he may possess no wealth and no claim to fame, but in his spiritual outlook, in his worth and integrity, he may tower above his fellows and if we do not recognize his worth, be sure the gods will do so and claim him as one with themselves.

Some one once said that we may be what we pray to be; well, why not? We do not have to be Black Buttes, if not in the eyes of the world, at least in our hearts and in our soul's wealth, we may match a mountain—a beautiful mountain—a Mount Shasta to those who know us for what we are. Well, why not?

I wonder why Washington, D. C., has grown so alarmingly cacophonious. Have our lawmakers forgotten that it is spring? What are these invective hurling men doing to enhance the beauty and serenity for which we look at this time of the year? Would it be well to quarantine Washington until the storm blows over?

Such a demonstration of democracy in action as we are being favored with at the present time, will make more Communists than it can unveil. How Russia must be chortling!

Years ago a certain wag suggested that vital statistics should be captioned, "Hatched, Matched and Dispatched." I would amend that formula to read, "Hatched, Matched, Detached, Dispatched." These days I strongly suspect that some brides and grooms go to the altar with tickets to Reno tucked aside in their inner pockets. Undisciplined men and women often fail to find the love that is founded upon the rock of mutual faith and understanding.

Spring is here; what cares she for hydrogen bombs, flying saucers or the hatreds of mere men? Spring is here, and again I am thinking of the words of Joaquin Miller, "Above, above a blue, blue sky, below a green, green sod, And ever and ever between the two, go the wonderful winds of God." Spring is here; all the trees are waving their fresh green flags, grass grows taller by the hour and wild flowers will soon add brightness and color to every landscape. Our perennial rose tree, planted eighty or more years ago, will soon offer its tribute to beauty and fragrance to a world made new.

Through the years since we came to this bit of terrain and settled down to stay, that rose bush has seemed to me as a symbol of liberty; it has been burned to the ground, it suffered long years of neglect, and yet it comes forth at the call of spring, strong and vigorous and for a season is truly a thing of joy and a memory of beauty that will last forever in the hearts of men; the dove of peace will call and the flower of liberty will blossom the world over. In this faith let us be what we pray to be. Let us at least try to match our mountains.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS.

By CLAIR ENGLE

Many Requests for Publications

Recently an uncomplimentary Associated Press dispatch mentioned the fact that the department of agriculture has issued a new cook book, 3,000 of which are allotted to each congressman. The general tenor of the press release was about the cost of the publication during this time of deficit financing and the strange coincidence that the book happened to come out on campaign year. Very often I receive letters complaining about the volume of government publications sometimes accompanying requests fr such publications.

Immediately after the press release about the new cook book, some of the congressional offices were practically swamped with requests for it. Although there has not been a large volume of requests for the book in my office there have been a sizeable number and they will probably increase.

Some Protest Cost

It is amazing how many people write a congressional office for government publications. I send out at least 50,000 home-makers and farmers bulletins a year, all at the specific request of people in my district. Each congressman is allotted 400 agricultural yearbooks, which this year was a very fine publication entitled "Trees." My allotment is exhausted and I have no more. All the yearbooks for the preceding years have been exhausted except for 1942.

People have sugegsted that in the interest of economy these publications should not be issued. As far as I am personally concerned, I would vote to abolish the whole business. However, until the congress sees fit to end the practice entirely and for everybody, I can see no justification in depriving the people of my district of these publications as long as they are available. And finally, I might add that the reports from the district are that housewives are very pleased with the new cook book, a number of which are still available.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

By Clayre S. Lipman

ROBERT PAINE

About as contented as a man can be, Bob Paine has only two unrealized ambitions. One is to be an O. O. McIntyre-type newspaper columnist . . . the other . . . to see the Republicans get a break . . . doesn't believe either will materialize at this point in his career . . . !

And it's been quite a career for this home-grown product of Nevada City . . . eleven years with the old Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad that huffed and puffed down to Grass Valley and over hill, dale, and trestle, 'way over to Colfax, 21 miles away! An exciting eleven years for Bob, as public relations man, freight agent, and whatever-was-needed assistant to Earl Taylor, Prez and Gen Mgr . . .

In those days, they hauled millions in gold bullion from the local mines, down to the main line for trans-shipment to the mint at San Francisco . . . remembers a murder on the train . . . two hoboes argued over who should steal the bullion . . . one shoved the other off a car, and that ended the robbery attempt!

The railroad had plenty of other trouble, though . . . the NC depot was burned out by a rocket one Fourth of July . . . the Grass Valley depot also burned . . . Jennings trestle destroyed by forest fire . . . and someone was always havin' the law on 'em for bumping cows, horses, pigs and chickens on the right-of-way . . .

War put an end to the little train that had hauled thousands of visiting Lake Vera Camp Fire Girls and Columbia Park boys . . . rolling stock was sold to the government and went to Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, North Africa.

One engine finally wandered into Hollywood and was put to work with Marlene Dietrich making "The Spoilers" . . . nice work . . . in the meantime, Bob took one of those temporary jobs with the govt. too—can't understand how he stumbled onto the war's "dream assignment" . . . seems no one else wanted it, so he took it . . . conducting tours of combat flyers on leave around the Isle of Capri, Pompeii, Rome . . . imagine! Also published a camp newspaper called the "Liberaider," in Rome . . . on ironed-out stock left over from "Stars and Stripes" . . . in his apartment there, with hot water, stood him a carton of cigs a week . . .

Thinks he got the job because he'd reached the "age of responsibility"—that's when you leave off being a young feller, but haven't quite reached middle age . . . also taught Army school at Fort Collins, Colorado . . . first class at 6 a.m.

Strange carryover from his Army-style tours . . . now conducts a yearly tour for the Historical Society . . . mostly over territory where his family tree did most of its growing. His dad was Lon Paine, who either owned or drove every stagecoach out of Nevada City . . . other family members settled Lake City and Bloomfield. Bob has inherited a generous amount of that rich Irish humor . . . likes to laugh; likes people; likes to be kidded . . .

Claims he got his greying locks in politics . . . helped organize the Young Republicans here . . . and look what's been happening ever since! Politically, Bob received the largest number of votes cast in the Republican Central Committee . . . resigned last February . . . because he thought that in his work for a state tax agency he should be non-partisan . . . NOT because his brand-new bride, Ruth Bock Paine, happens to be . . . a Democrat!

Gets a little nostalgic when he reminisces about the old narrow gauge . . . admits busses and trucks are doing a job, but feels a community takes a step backward when its railroad leaves . . . hopes the iron horse will come back some day . . . slim chance . . . but he wants a pair of tickets for the first ride when it does . . . !

COUNTY HOSPITAL NURSE ENDS LIFE

Funeral services will be held today at Myers Mortuary chapel for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stock, 49, who committed suicide Tuesday evening by drinking a large portion of potassium cyanide. The body will be sent to Denver, Colo., for interment.

Mrs. Stock died at the Community hospital in Grass Valley 20 minutes after she had drank the poison in her home in Grass Valley. Mrs. Clara Crase, Grass Valley, told investigating officers she had been called to Mrs. Stock's home about 9:30 p.m. As she entered the house Mrs. Stock said "Do not touch this glass," and picked up the glass and drained its contents.

To Mrs. Crase's query of what was in the glass Mrs. Stock replied "potassium cyanide" and in a few moments collapsed.

Mrs. Crase told Coroner Alvah G. Hooper Mrs. Stock had threatened suicide before.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Stock had resided in Grass Valley 12 years, during which time she had been employed as a nurse at the county hospital.

Surviving are her husband, Lee, Sacramento; brothers, Frank Lavelle, Oakland; and Jack and Walter Lavelle, and a sister, Emmajean Brady, all of Wyoming.

CARLSON AND BRASS NAMED AS DELEGATES

Walter A. Carlson and Al M. Brass were elected delegates to I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge at Tuesday evening's meeting of Oustomah lodge of the Odd Fellows organization. Carlson has been recommended to the office of District Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge.

The sermon will be comprised of citations from the Bible and from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Erdy, including the following:

Jeremiah: "For thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the sword; Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth" (33:4, 6).

Science and Health: "As for sin and disease, Christian Science says, in the language of the Master, 'Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead.' Let discord of every name and nature be heard no more, and let the harmonious and true sense of Life and being take possession of human consciousness" (p. 355).

In addition to redecoration a third story was to be added to house the courtroom, judge's chambers, law library and district attorney's office. Cost of the all steel, fireproof structure was estimated at $30,000.

A fire that threatened to destroy the whole town burned the third story of the Union hotel in Nevada City. Built in 1864 by a joint company consisting of John C. BIBLE COMMENT
FOR APRIL 9

Resurrection in Christian Faith: Death Unto Life

THE seeming miracle of the growth and spread of early Christianity very definitely had its roots and explanation in the greater miracle of the Resurrection of Jesus, after His death on the cross and burial. A more disheartened and disappointed group could hardly be found anywhere than the group of Christian disciples in the hours following their Master's death.

Then, suddenly, all that dejection and frustration changed into life and hope. Not only was their faith revived, but there came new accesses of vision, character, and power, that transformed men who had been quarreling about place and ambition into Apostles, with a world mission and vision in a purpose now spiritual.

That transformation is something not to be accounted for, except upon the plain facts. Here was John, one of the two brothers whom Jesus, because of their intense forcefulness and ambition, had nicknamed the "Sons of Thunder, Boanerges."

This very John, only a few years later, became the Apostle of love, writing in all the tenderness of his Epistles, "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren" (I John 3:14). John had indeed passed from death unto life under the power of that resurrection faith.

It was this faith that inspired Paul, who spoke of himself as a Christian born out of due season.

Only such a profound faith could have upheld and sustained a man in the situations of peril and suffering which Paul so constantly experienced, and at the same time kept him as full of joy as of faith and courage.

It is the faith of the Eastertide and the Resurrection, and would God that we might all experience it today! We, too, might then know and understand what the Apostles meant when they spoke of passing from death unto life.

LOGGERS URGED TO REGISTER AT FOREST OFFICE

All persons who are going to log this season should register at the state forester's office, according to an announcement by Don Knowton, state ranger. Application blanks can be obtained from or through the local office.

Knowlton said timber operators who have worked through snag areas or created slash from timber harvesting since 1947, are required by this state's forest practice act to clean up along roadside margins by or before the legally established date for this forest practice district.

By or before Saturday, April 15, or ten days prior to starting operations if they begin after that date, operators must file a fire plan with the state forester's office. It may be filed with the state forester's office directly or through the local state ranger's office.

Also prior to April 15 all logging trucks and tractors used in the woods must be equipped with attached shovel; all sawmills and log landings in the woods must have a fire tool cache containing the tools required by this forest practice district.

Booklets giving information on the forest practice act may be obtained from local state and federal forest officers.

Knowlton also calls attention to the state public resources code which requires all sawmills to currently burn debris consisting of any type of wood waste.

Wright said the Lions club is attempting to inaugurate a recreational program that will appeal to young and old and still be inexpensive.

TAILINGS

By Jim Towne

KALEIDOSCOPE. The month of April brings to mind scenes of the past. Simple things. Preparation for Easter Sunday. Holy week. Prolonged school recess. Wild flower hunts with mother. Ma, our nextdoor neighbor. Her haughty daughters. The April showers and scampering for shelter. The scenes are splashed with color except the one of Ma on Good Friday.

MA. Our very earliest recollection of her is her white, silky hair done in scallops about her face. She was tall and strong. A kind face and a kinder voice. It was gentle and musical. Ma had a large family. Pa, a handsome gray-haired rascal, six daughters, a son and a grandson who made his home with them. He was our playmate. There was always much laughter in the house. Music and singing. Ma worked hard to keep every one and the house in order. She wore dresses that were splashed with flowers. She always looked fresh and huggable. Ma had one day out of the year in which she did no work. It was Good Friday. On that day she put on a black silk dress and sat in her rocking chair on the porch. All of the cooking had been done the day before. Ma fasted on Good Friday and spoke to no one. She never went to church, but those of us who loved her knew that she had a religion that was profound and true. Ma also had a romantic history. It is a story of California in the middle fifties.

MOTHER. Our own. She was just as handsome as Ma next door, but a young woman. She loved little children, her own and all of the kids in the neighborhood. During April she took us on our first wild flower hunt, boys, girls and dogs. One day we were caught in a hail storm. Mother got us sheltered under low growing bushes. She faced the storm alone. The hail clung to her hair. Suddenly the sun popped from behind the clouds. We looked at mother. Her hair was covered with pearls, then right before our eyes it turned them into diamonds that glittered and sparkled. "Don't move, don't move!" we cried. "Your hair is covered with diamonds!" Mother gathered as many of us as she could into her arms and we heard her say, "Oh, God, keep them all with the sight of beauty in their eyes!" We didn't understand what she meant that day, but as each April rolls around, we know, grown-ups that we are, that to see beauty is to shut out some of the misery of this world.

SYMPATHY. We have it for kids who have never searched for Easter eggs. We never remained on their flattened little bellies, in the tall grass, with the expectation of hearing a bunny talk. We are sorry for kids who never knew a jolly mother. Who have not had a neighbor like Ma. They gave us something of themselves that has made us better men and women.

MRS. BROCK RESIGNS

An executive board meeting of the Tri-County Federation of Women's Club was held Friday at Roseville, with the Roseville Women's Improvement club as the hostess unit.

Mrs. Byron E. Brock, tri-county president, asked that her resignation as president be accepted, and that she be relieved of duties by June 1.

The annual convention meeting of the Tri-County will be held at the Shakespeare clubhouse, Placerville, May 1. The Tri-County will be hostess to the Northern District Federation at Placerville April 12, 13 and 14.

CORRECTION OF LAND BOUNDARIES OF CAMPTONVILLE OKAYED

Yuba county board of supervisors has approved a correction in the land boundaries of Camptonville, after a two-year study.

The approval includes acceptance of a revised map of the district, based on resolutions submitted by Supervisors Charles E. Coupe and Harold J. Sperbeck.

Coupe stated landowners have agreed to accept reconveyances of property based on the resurvey, with only one exception, that to be settled by litigation. The resurvey, asked two years ago to establish land lines which have been the basis of 50 years of argument in the foothill community, was conducted by Chas. St. Maurice, Marysville.

The new map, Coupe said, is the first official map the Camptonville area has had. All other maps have been based on surveys of gold rush days.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BURN BRUSH SAYS STATE

If brush is to be burned, now is the time to do it, according to the local office of the state division of forestry.

Don Knowlton, ranger, said permits are not required until Saturday, April 15, opening of the fire season. Knowlton said the forestry division encourages brush burning and clearing now to reduce fire hazard later in the year.

The division office made a precautionary call Monday at the Manzanita diggings north of Nevada City where brush burning was used to clear an old mine wash preparatory to sinking a shaft.

To the VOTERS
of Nevada City

We are going to the polls Tuesday, April 11, to exercise our franchise as good citizens. In voting we want the very best we can get for our money.

The most important, of course, is electing men who are qualified to operate a business efficiently and without favor.

We believe the present incumbents have shown these qualifications.

They have worked harmoniously and in doing so we have had good government.

They have, by their efforts, saved thousands of dollars on the sewage disposal plant that the state law says we MUST build to avoid contamination of our streams.

They have been diligent in the purchase of city supplies and equipment, taking advantage of surplus equipment for sale by the government.

They have been obliging and polite to the people of Nevada City, ever ready to listen to our complaints and suggestions.

They are forward seeing businessmen giving their time and effort to make this a model city in which to live.

Their program of better lighting, sewage disposal, modern fire fighting equipment, extended program of parks and playgrounds, promotion of our recreational area are some of their projected plans for our city.

The Committee for Good Government believes that

Arthur Innis
and

are entitled to our vote of confidence.

Oral spelling proceeded while papers were being corrected by Mrs. Constance Pfiffer, Mrs. Margaret Stevens, Mrs. Vera Ingram and Loren Hill.

Miss Maxine Sleeper was moderator for the oral test.

Don Knowlton, Keith MacDonald and Walter A. Carlson were oral contest judges.

County Superintendent Carlson was in charge.

MATHIS GIVES 9 LOCAL LITHOS TO HISTORY UNIT

Nine lithographs of historical sites in Nevada and Sierra counties were presented to the Nevada County Historical Society by George Mathis, local artist, at a meeting of the organization at the Nevada City elementary school auditorium Monday evening.

Included in the collection were Mathis' sketches of the Red Castle, upper fire house and county scenes.

Mathis told the organization he uses a technique invented in 1795 by Alois Senefelder in Bavaria, and used by Currier and Ives. The prints are made in black and white and then hand water colored.

Ronaldo Ronchi, Folsom, outlined the life of Dr. Robert Menzel Hunt, Nevada county's first county physician and founder of the county hospital.

Ronchi worked for Dr. Hunt as a handy man and later became supervisor of the hospital.

According to Ronchi, Dr. Hunt came to Nevada City in 1850 to try his hand at gold mining and remained to establish practice. He was a native of Utica, N. Y.

Ronchi related the county farm was established while Dr. Hunt was county physician and under his direction the farm produced all meat and vegetables required by the patients. The hospital was required to feed patients at a cost of 40 cents a day per patient.

Mrs. Ed J. Kohler of North San Juan was named to represent the society at a meeting of PTA delegates and other civic groups at city hall Tuesday. The meeting is for the purpose of arranging a program for public schools week.

Miss Joanne Hefelfinger and Miss Sandra Pease presented a muscial program at the meeting. Mrs. Mary Wallis was chairman.

STRONG DALTON TEAM BOWS TO ATHLETICS 11-9

Nevada City Athletics will go to Auburn Sunday for a practice game with the Auburn Cubs of the Placer-Nevada league, according to Steve Pelayo, manager. The team will leave from Eddie's Place at 11 a.m.

It will be the last practice game before the league opens the following Sunday. The Athletics are scheduled to play at Lincoln for the 1950 curtain raiser.

The Athletics looked good last Sunday whipping the strong Dalton Motors 11-9 at McKinley park in Sacramento. The local prides had only four blows but with 16 free passes to first there was little opportunity to whack the ball.

Paul Stack had the hardest hit of the day, a line drive eight feet over second base into the centerfielder's glove. If Meridian had had to take two steps he would never have had a chance for it. Art Gagliardi drove a long high one that Frye, Dalton left fielder, pulled out of the left field trees of McKinley park. In the Nevada City park the ball would have hit the bridge in left center.

Goldsberry pitched six innings and Tommy Green hurled the final three. Meridian reached for one of Green's waste pitches in the eighth inning and drove it down the left field foul line for a two base hit that put Dalton Motors ahead for the first time in the game 9-8.

But Nevada City came back in the top half of the ninth and regained the lead. With two out Ralph Childers grounded to the shortstop who bobbled and then overthrew first to permit Bryan and Jones to romp home with the tying and winning run.

Johnson, the Dalton shortstop, parked one of Goldsberry's Sunday pitches into the street beyond left field for the longest hit of the game.

Born in Pike Feb. 22, 1870 she was the dauhgter of Thomas and Matilda Wayman and was christened Matilda Ann.

She was married in January, 1896, and husband preceded her in death by six weeks.

Funeral services were held in the Little Chapel of the Flowers in Berkeley Saturday, followed by cremation.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Adolph Speice, San Francisco; a son, Gilman Low, Berkeley; three grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. A brother, William Wayman, first curator of the Nevada county historical museum, died last June.

Lookin' Around

fantastic events created by the Brundage imagination places the century-old tale almost in a class with our wildest fiction.

But men in those days did have imagination. They saw no limits to the empire they might establish or the novel ways in which they might create and perpetuate the way of life which sprang from the inexhaustible wealth they grubbed from the rocky earth. There was no spirit of subservience or even of tolerance with authority placed elsewhere; the rough miners fancied themselves indominatable and self-sufficient.

Dreams could never have been spun on thinner webs. When both gold and whiskey disappeared, the robust plans went with them. It would be interesting to know whether the men who conceived them were shaken, crest-fallen, or disillusioned. Would it have been possible for them, bound by the conventions of civilization, to see their dreams in the light of reality? What would those grizzled miners think of the regimentation and socialization of our government today?

The birthday of the writer mentioned above bears a relationship in a way because there is also an element of disillusion there. Two years ago, when the magic goal-line was crossed, he wrote speculatively of what he would do with a life "just beginning." But in the course of the writing, he noted with chagrin that he had never cast a vote for a successful candidate for president, that although he had many interests he could be termed a specialist in none, and most of the goals of youth had become either unattainable or undesirable.

Soul searching is a profitable private pastime which is seldom welcome in public display. It too often takes the form of self-pity and that is about as disgusting as buffoonery or braggadocio. There are mileposts in every life, though, when an inventory is important. You can't run a successful business without periodic appraisal of assets and liabilities. And you can't run your life without self-examination. But what does it get you? Either headaches or stomach ulcers.

BILL TAMBLYN NAMED NEW ROTARY PREXY

William (Bill) L. Tamblyn, deputy county assessor, was chosen president of the Nevada City Rotary club at luncheon meeting last week at National hotel.

Lloyd Geist, elementary school principal, was re-elected secretary; Horace Curnow, treasurer; J. Paul Bergemann, Andy Larsen and Dr. Jerome Frey, club directors.

The new officers will be installed July 1.

Marvin Shock, Tahoe national forest officer, is the current president of the club.

FISH LADDER

State allocation board has allocated $100,000 for development of Daguerre Point Dam fish ladder on Yuba river near Marysville. The dam is reported to be an effective block to salmon and steelhead getting to upper reaches of the Yuba river. Narrows dam will be another problem. Fish will be able to enter Deer creek.

CUT IN PLANTING RAINBOWS WILL BE UNCHANGED

Trout plantings in streams and lakes of western Nevada county will be reduced approximately 40 percent despite formal protests made here Tuesday night at a meeting of sportsmen and conservation leaders and officials of the state division of fish and game.

J. C. Frasier, Placerville, biologist of the state division, and Alan Pollitt, assistant supervisor of hatcheries, said no changes can be made in allocations for this area but that some adjustments may be made in plantings in bodies of water within the area.

Heading the protesting group was I. C. Bell, vice president of the Nevada City chamber of commerce, who contended the western part of the county was getting an unfair fish planting deal.

Frasier said the decrease in plantings in the Bear river basin was largely caused by limited hatchings and remodelling at the Mt. Shasta hatchery, which supplies rainbow trout for this section.

Crews of the division of fish and game moved into the Lake Tahoe area yesterday to commence a large scale planting of kokanee salmon trout.

REFUNDED $235

Pete Moscatelli, co-owner of Schreiber's cafe, saved himself $235 by having a zipper on his billfold. An unidentified man received a $10 reward for returning Pete's wallet to him after it had been stolen from the card room of the tavern. The thief apparently, Moscatelli said, lifted the billfold from the floor where it must have slipped from his pocket while playing cards. The thief overlooked the special compartment, extracted a $5 bill from the open section, and then threw the wallet into the entranceway of Berggren's Jewelry store.

SCOUT LEADERS MEET AT COUNCIL REVIEW, PLAN DISTRICT HERE

Guerdon Ellis, Horace Curnow, Frank McGinnis and Dr. Jerome Frey of Nevada City, attended a meeting of key representatives of the Tahoe area council, Boy Scouts of America, in Auburn Thursday evening of last week. Purpose of the meeting was to review the council charter and coordinate the boy activities throughout the area.

Dr. Harry N. March and Jack Furneax represented Grass Valley at the session.

Deputy Regional Scout Executive H. C. Mugar of Los Angeles, who conducted the charter review, said that the council had made excellent progress. There are 2,000 boys in the council program. With the addition of a field executive to assist Scout Executive Raymond J. Ewan on May 1, it was expected that enrollment would soon reach 3,000.

The local men recently started organization of a Nevada City district with Dr. Frey as acting district chairman.
